

BEATTIE TRIAL IS RESUMED

Beulah Binford May Not Be Called to Stand to Testify

A DESPERATE FIGHT

Is Being Made by Both Sides Over Line of Testimony to be Offered.

Chesterfield Court House Va., Aug. 28.—Beulah Binford, girl-woman and wanton, may not be called upon to bare her pathetically sordid life story on the witness stand during the trial of Henry Clay Beattie for the murder of his young wife. The prosecution admitted today that it had planned to establish the gruesome motive which they charge led Henry Clay Beattie to slay his wife, without calling the vivacious, carefree "other woman," whose illicit love is assigned as the cause of the crime. Attorneys Wendenburg and Gregory, who are smoothing the path that may lead Beattie to the electric chair, planned to enter their proof of motive before court adjourned today. Revolving, technical medical testimony was expected as the greater part of the state's contention.

Fear that love for the accused man or regard for his financial resources might interfere with the Beulah girl's testimony, was the moving cause of the determination to avoid calling her, if possible opportunities afforded the defense to impress the jury with sentimental impropriety of convicting Beattie on his sweetheart's testimony, played a significant part. Beulah, with her passionate desire for public recognition will be vastly disappointed if she is not made the center of the crowd that watches Beattie's trial.

After a Sunday that was far from a day of rest, the hard-working lawyers for Beattie appeared today prepared to attack Detective L. T. Scherer's testimony. All day yesterday Harry M. Smith and Bill Carter conferred with their client in Richmond jail. Last evening they drove out on the Midlothian turnpike, to where the gun was found. Scherer had testified that the gun was at a distance from the road which would make it impossible for it to have been fired from the death-laden auto as Beattie drove his wife's body home.

The prosecution claims that Beattie threw the gun from the car. Beattie and his lawyers worked without ceasing yesterday, reviewing Scherer's testimony. He had related half a dozen conversations with Beattie in which the accused man admitted his wife's knowledge of the resumption of those relations just prior to the killing. These Beattie and his lawyer threshed over, seeking possible flaws.

PROS. TURNER RECEIVES LETTER OF APOLOGY FROM EDITOR BUSH OF ATHENS

Columbus, Aug. 28.—Prosecutor Turner today received a letter of apology from Editor F. W. Bush of the Athens Daily Messenger, who roasted Turner and Judge Kinkade in an editorial Aug. 23 for their efforts to make Rodney J. Diegel, convicted of complicity in alleged legislative bribery, confess. Bush in his letter says that his conclusions were hastily drawn and were based on press reports concerning an interview that Diegel had with Prosecutor Turner and Attorney General Hogan last Tuesday. Bush says: "I was dead wrong and I join with you heartily in your efforts to bring wrong-doers in the last general assembly to justice."

Judge Kinkade had ordered an investigation of the facts in the Bush editorial, and if it was warranted ordered the editor cited for contempt. The prosecuting attorney today reported that he had received no word from Col. Diegel. According to Turner and Hogan, this was the last day of grace which the convicted man

BREAKFAST QUARREL ENDS IN A MURDER

Cambridge, Aug. 28.—When eating breakfast at a boarding house in the glass plant addition Sunday morning, John Blackinsop and John Byers engaged in a quarrel which ended in Byers' death.

During the altercation Blackinsop drew a revolver and shot at Byers, but other boarders scattered them. Apparently pacified, they were both let go, when Blackinsop followed Byers to his room and shot him through the heart. He dropped his weapon and escaped to the woods south of Cambridge. He is still at large.

RIVERMAN SHOTS SAULT STE. MARIE RAPIDS ON LOG

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 28.—While 5,000 persons looked on, James Pollock, a riverman, of Tower, Mich., successfully shot the St. Mary's River rapids yesterday on a log. For his feat he received a purse of $15.

In a canoe, with an Indian guide, Pollock was taken to the head of the rapids. Six minutes later, after having been whirled about the thousands of gigantic boulders and often obscured from view, he emerged at the lower end without a scratch and was picked up by a launch.

Pollock is the first man to shoot the rapids, which are a mile and a half long, unless seated in a boat. Before he started expert Indian guides who have shot the rapids for years declared Pollock deliberately courted suicide.

"It was soft money for me," said Pollock, after his experience. "I would do it again right away for $50."

GOV. HARMON'S CAMPAIGN BOOK

Columbus, Aug. 28.—That Judson Harmon made an excellent governor of Ohio and that he would make an excellent president are arguments made in the Harmon campaign book which has just been issued in the interest of Governor Harmon's campaign for the presidency in 1912.

The governor's long fight with the legislature for progressive laws is set forth in the book, as well as that which he fought unsuccessfully, being included in the book.

A feature is made of the work of the state tax commission, which he appointed, in increasing valuations on public service corporations.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON COMMITS SUICIDE

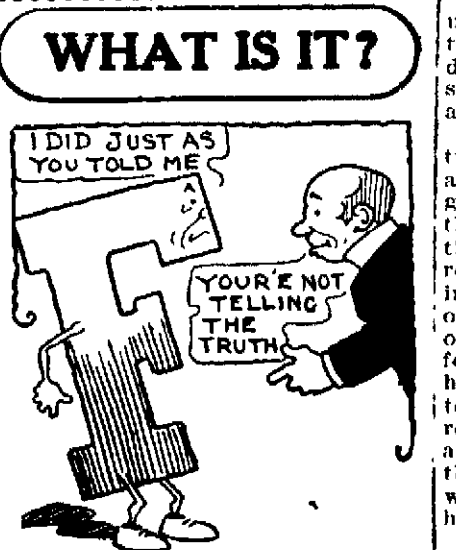

New York, Aug. 28.—The financial district of New York was thrown into a panic shortly before noon today when Arthur Vert, the 22-year-old son of H. C. Vert, millionaire Standard Oil man, killed himself in front of the Produce Exchange building. Young Vert worked in the foreign department of the Standard Oil Co. He walked to the street below the office and pressing the gun to his breast fired, the bullet piercing the heart. At his father's office nothing could be learned as to the cause of the suicide. It was reported to the police that the shooting followed a quarrel with his wife.

TWENTY-SIX VICTIMS OF FIRE PANIC

At Moving Picture Show When Boy's Fright Caused Alarm

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE

Death Jam Occurs at Exit as People Made Wild Rush to Escape.

Canonsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Stunned by the tragedy of Saturday night, when 26 lives were trampled out in the Morgan opera house, Canonsburg is today preparing to bury her dead. There was no fire. There was not even a smoke. There was no reason whatever for alarm. There was only the blind, unreasoning fear of a panic-stricken mob, which carried before it babies in arms, little children, strong men and frightened women, and piled them in a writhing, twisting heap on top of those who stood below.

Rewards have been offered for the arrest and conviction of the person who cried "fire" in the opera house. The police fear that if he is caught he will be dealt with violently, as threats are heard on all sides. "We do not know who the person is who called 'fire' in the theatre," said Chief of Police Swan today. "We heard it was a young foreign boy in the gallery, and that he did it in a joking spirit when the film broke, but we cannot verify this."

To prove that the film did not burn, two hours after the accident the reel of films of "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," which started the excitement, was shown to the police and a group of newspaper men. The operator stated that the film broke, a very frequent occurrence. When it broke he secured another film, which was to be shown until he could repair the film. The broken picture, as well as all the three rolls of films are in the possession of the police. They have been sealed and will be turned over to the coroner.

Grieved by its great loss, the town will go into mourning for the whole of this week. Gayety of every form will be banished from the life of the town. Baseball games in the church league have been declared off for the remainder of the season.

Canonsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Twenty-six dead from suffocation, 25 seriously injured, 30 suffering from minor hurts. That is the amount of human toll exacted by an inexcusable panic at a moving picture show in the Canonsburg opera house Saturday night.

The moving picture machine developed a slight defect. There occurred a noise like "click." A small boy shouted "fire," at the same time starting for the narrow exit.

Bolus Dubrowski, a foreign miner, giant in proportions, jumped from his seat and ran wildly for the same exit. In a moment there was a fighting, struggling mass with him. At the head of the stairway which led to the street the foreigner tripped. As he tumbled down the stairs he swept others from their feet who were awaiting their turn to enter the theatre, and soon there was an indescribable pile of human beings at the foot of the steps, fighting like mad.

In Dubrowski's wild flight through the theatre and his subsequent tumble down the stairs into those entering the building was the beginning of the death jam at the foot of the stairs. The bodies clogged the doorway. Men walked over them and fought for positions of safety until overwhelmed by the weight of the moving mass behind them. They, too, were crushed down to death.

When the doorway had been filled up, still other persons walked over the bodies of those who had gone down, and breaking the glass transom over the door, crawled through and dropped into the street.

It was all ended within a short time. Volunteer firemen, police and a few level-headed citizens untangled the mass. Unhurt persons and those slightly hurt were pulled from the top of the mass. As they reached the street they ran screaming away. Next came the more seriously hurt, and these were sent home or taken to nearby houses, while a few were rushed unconscious to the hospitals. Then the rescuers came to the silent forms of those who had reached the fatal stairway first. One after another the victims, many of them women and small children, were carried to the sidewalk. All had been suffocated.

During this time Manager Ferguson had endeavored to stop the panic. Accompanied by his wife, he started for the stairs, but seeing

AVIATOR ATWOOD'S SMILE OF TRIUMPH JUST AFTER FINISHING HIS RECORD BREAKING VOYAGE BY AEROPLANE

When Aviator Harry N. Atwood made his final landing on Governors Island at the completion of his 1265 mile flight from St. Louis by way of Chicago, winning the world's championship for long distance flying, he sat in his machine while a photographer caught his smile of triumph. Those in the crowd that gathered about him, the soldiers, reporters and a few civilians who were privileged to be present, declared that Atwood looked and acted just as cool as if he had arrived by automobile. "Atwood was carefully dressed," said one of the spectators, "and looked more like a man ready to attend some informal social function than one who had just finished the longest aeroplane flight yet made." Only two or three men were close at hand when the aeroplane touched the ground. The big machine ran along on its wheels until it stopped near a clump of trees, where the crowd gathered.

JUDGE MARTIN OF LANCASTER DIES AGED 82

Lancaster, Aug. 28.—Judge C. D. Martin, a prominent attorney, died here Sunday. He served one term in congress, from 1859 to 1861, and also was a member of the supreme court commission in 1880, to assist in disposing of the overflow business, before that body. Judge Martin was 82 years old and leaves a widow and three children. After graduating at Kenyon College, Gambier, he came to this city and has been prominent in politics since.

DEFINES POWER OF COMMISSION

Columbus, Aug. 28.—In a ruling against citizens of Cincinnati who have been clamoring for an extension of street car lines in that city, Attorney General Hogan today placed a constitution on the new public utilities law that is of state wide importance. He holds that the new commission has no jurisdiction to order a street car company to extend its lines to care for new traffic. The commission has full power to order improvements, repairs and extensions to facilitate the handling of existing traffic, but there is no jurisdiction with the company whether or not it will extend its lines. The ruling also applies to steam roads.

CIGARET STUB CAUSED BLAZE AT BURNET HOTEL

Cincinnati Aug. 28. The stub of a lighted cigar, carelessly thrown into an open safe filled with light fabrics, caused a fire at the Burnet Hotel, one of Cincinnati's leading hotels, last night. A 10-hour alarm, calling on all available fire companies, was turned in, but the fire was extinguished with small loss. All of the guests were taken from the building in safety.

ENGLAND READY FOR ANNEXATION

London, Aug. 28.—Formal annexation of Egypt by Great Britain is believed in diplomatic circles to be imminent. It is said today that England will take this step on the slightest pretext. It is also stated that Germany is already laying plans to block the move and that she has involved herself in the Moroccan situation with France partially for the purpose of embarrassing England on the Nile.

GOVERNMENT WANTS NEWARK CORNER LOT ABOUT 147x160 FT.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Another step has just been taken toward securing a new federal building at Newark, Ohio. The following notice has just been prepared and sent to Postmaster Hefsey, at Newark, to be posted in the lobby:

"Recent legislation authorizes the acquisition of a new federal building site at Newark and provides that the present government lot (the Sherwood site) shall be disposed of either in exchange for such new site or in part payment therefor, or by separate sale. Therefore proposals are hereby solicited to be opened in the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury department, Washington, D. C., at 10 a. m., on Sept. 21, 1911, for the sale or donation to the United States of a corner lot approximately 147x160 feet, centrally and conveniently located and suitable for said new building site. Bidders who are willing to take the present government lot in exchange or in part payment for the property they offer for such new federal building site should set forth clearly in their proposals terms upon which such transfer is sought. Prospective purchasers of the present government lot who do not wish to offer property for the new site should so state in their proposals for such purchase and set forth the terms upon which they desire to acquire the government lot. Bids contemplating only the purchase of the present government lot must be accompanied by a certified check to the order of the Treasurer of the United States of $1000 as a guarantee of good faith, the proceeds of this check to be forfeited to the United States in case of the bidder's default.

The right is reserved to the secretary of the Treasury till Oct. 2, 1911, to accept or reject the highest bid for the purchase of said government lot. Upon application, the postmaster (Mr. Hefsey) will supply prospective bidders with a circular giving particulars as to requirements and instructions for preparation of bids, and data to accompany the same. A. PLATT ANDREWS, Acting Secretary.

LOVE OF MAN OF 55 FOR GIRL OF 15 LEADS TO THE SHOOTING OF WRONG MAN

Zanesville, Aug. 28.—Developments following the probably fatal assault upon John Wesley Starks, aged 55, colored, on the Darlington road, near South Zanesville, at 7:15 o'clock Sunday evening, when he was shot from ambush, caused the arrest later of John Dobbins, aged 55, of the Mayville pike and the detention of Ida May Smith, aged 15, of the Darlington road, for the juvenile court. The police claim that the couple are responsible and hint that the shot was intended for a person other than Starks.

The colored man was fired upon from ambush near his home on the Darlington road and perhaps fatally injured. A bullet ploughed through the right side of the abdomen, struck the coat lining and fell to the ground. Starks was staggered but regained his feet and called for help. The injury appeared trivial at first but Sunday evening complications developed and he was rushed to a hospital for an immediate operation. This condition is critical.

Following the shooting bloodhounds were brought to this city from Lancaster. Russell Miller and two famous dogs arrived here at midnight in an automobile but the dogs were not taken to the scene until early Sunday morning.

PRESIDENT WILL DEFY INSURGENTS

Expects to Get Renomination Without Their Aid or Support

BIG SCRAP HAS STARTED

La Follette to Get Busy With the Grangers—Rep. Morris at Nebraska Fair.

Washington, Aug. 28.—President Taft does not expect or ask the support of insurgent Republicans. He proposes to make no efforts to conciliate them, but, on the contrary, his policy henceforward will be to defy them, and to get his renomination and re-election without their aid or support.

Such is the Washington interpretation of the president's bitter arraignment of the insurgents in his speech at Hamilton, Mass., Saturday evening. After that denunciation there can be no peace. Mr. Taft will, on his forthcoming western tour, carry the war right to the states and districts of the insurgents, and make the defiance just as strong as possible.

The wage will be taken up instantly by the insurgents. Two of their leaders will reply to the Hamilton speech within the next few days. The tariff split in the Republican party is to be ripped wider and wider, it is predicted. All efforts to bandage, stitch and heal it up are at an end.

Senator La Follette, at whom the president aimed his Hamilton invective, will make his first speech, following the close of congress, to the Pennsylvania State Grange convention at Harrisburg next Thursday. He said today that before that occasion he should have no comment to make upon the president's address.

From this inference it is drawn that the Harrisburg address is likely to sound the counter-defiance of the man whom Mr. Taft designates by name as head of the insurgent movement.

A few days later Representative Norris of Nebraska will speak in behalf of the house insurgents before the Nebraska state fair. This meeting has been arranged with the frank purpose of having the insurgent cause stated in the plainest possible terms, and Mr. Norris has accepted the commission with the understanding that he is to tell his reasons why, as a Republican, he asks his state to send an anti-Taft delegation to the national convention next year.

That the president is determined to renew his fight upon the insurgents and to carry it right down to the doors of the national convention hall is regarded as certain in view of his speech at Hamilton. It comes as a surprise to many progressives, because the tone, manner and temper of the tariff vetoes, handed down in the last days of the congress session, were regarded by them as indicative of willingness to extend the olive branch.

What the president said at Hamilton about the insurgents is just what he has been saying privately for weeks past to sympathetic callers at the White House. He has been bitter in denunciation of what he called playing politics with the tariff.

But this tone of rancor was excluded from the veto messages, giving rise to the belief that the policy was to be one of placating the insurgents. The Hamilton speech ends all possibility of such course being pursued. The president denounced the anti-Taft Republican leaders, and in speeches on his coming western trip into the heart of insurgent territory he will have to play the same string.

He cannot escape denouncing La Follette in Wisconsin, Cummings in Iowa, Bristow in Kansas, Bourne in Oregon, Poundexter in Washington, and Chap in Minnesota. The effect of such a contest will be chiefly important, not for its influence in the pre-convention struggle, but for its weight in the election struggle, in which the insurgent west and middle west will be of such critical importance to the president's hopes for election. Mr. Taft, it seems, has reverted to his policy of 1910, when he withdrew patronage from those Republicans who had been hostile to the Payne-Aldrich revision.

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL SESSION

Boston, Aug. 28. Tourists and lawyers have arrived here in large numbers for the opening today of the convention of the American Bar Association. It is expected that more than 500 members will attend the meetings, which will continue for five days.

Society

The sessions of the 1911 convention of the Alpha Pi fraternity of the state of Ohio came to a close Friday evening with a brilliant reception and dance at Forbes' hall, Coshocton. The members of the local Gamma chapter and their ladies together with the convention delegates and a number of out of town guests enjoyed the reception during the earlier part of the evening and later from 8:30 to 1 o'clock there was dancing, the music being furnished by Parker's orchestra of Columbus. The hours between ten and eleven o'clock was spent in the dining room adjoining the main parlors, where a most delectable lunch was served by Landlord Standen of the Standen hotel.

The fraternity colors, orange and black, together with scores of pennants lent a bright and unusual touch to the hall. A few tastefully arranged late summer flowers added finally to the attractiveness of the scene.

Elaborate dance programs fashioned also in the Alpha Pi colors and bearing the fraternity seal on their cover page evidenced the fact that in the last detail the arrangements for the affair were complete.

The program of dance music given by Parker's orchestra during the evening, has rarely been excelled in Coshocton.

The dance committee to whom is due much of the credit for the success of the evening's pleasure was composed of Elbert Smith, Forrest McCullough and Frank L. Esser, chairman.

The Candid Girl

by Barbara Boyd

Protests Against the Injustice Done Many a Chorus Girl.

"I AM quite sure," said the Candid Girl, "that if I were a chorus girl, I would do some very plain speaking. Seems to me chorus girls are put upon by the public, and misunderstood and misrepresented, more than any other class of self-supporting women."

"Whew!" said the group on the porch. "Are you thinking of joining the ranks?"

"I'm not clever enough," said the Candid Girl smiling, "but if I did, just because I wanted to earn my living by singing and dancing, or maybe had no other ability with which to earn it, is no reason why a whole lot of foolish men and boys should think I wanted no higher pleasure than to spend my spare time in their company. I might want to do it, but just because I am a chorus girl, it doesn't necessarily follow that I do want to."

"And just because I am a chorus girl is no reason why I should be treated like one of a herd of animals, by those who may be happening to drill me. The impression seems to be abroad for some reason or other, that a chorus girl is a new species of human being, and requires entirely different treatment from the ordinary individual."

"And though, no doubt, there are some chorus girls who have brought notoriety on the profession—"

"Really?" chorused the group.

"And others," went on the Candid Girl serenely, "who are so desperately poor and so in need of a few square meals that they will do most anything for a little money, the majority of them are hard-working girls who see life from an exceedingly practical standpoint, and lead a very humdrum existence; and they don't enjoy being preached about, and having kindly-intentioned people sending them tracts as if they were headed straight for perdition and had chosen this path by preference, any more than you or I would."

"Most of them go on the stage, in spite of their parents' objections," said one.

"If their parents wouldn't object," said the Candid Girl, "but would give them godspeed when they saw they were in earnest, and be interested in their work, it would be much better. When they defy their parents, they start with a hardening of the heart that isn't a good influence. If they felt that their parents were watching them with interest and sympathy and pride, even those who have eventually followed the primrose path would probably not have found it so alluring at the start. Their parents' objection sent them to the work with that 'don't-care' feeling that weakens at the outset their moral fibre."

"A lot of injustice is done the chorus girl," concluded the Candid Girl. "The front rows take her as something provided especially for their amusement, and the public generally regard her as something requiring disinfection, when all the time she is just a girl like any of us, with feelings the same as we all have."

DUKE'S DEATH CAUSED BY FALL DOWN ELEVATOR

(Special to the Advocate.)
Wellsville, N. Y., Aug. 28.--It was established for certain yesterday afternoon that Joseph Duke, killed by a fall into the elevator shaft at the Hotel Plaza in Havana, Cuba, was Joe Duke of Wellsville, formerly of Newark, Ohio.

During the afternoon a cablegram was received by O. S. Wight, secretary of the Masonic lodge, from the Master of Island Lodge, at Havana, asking what disposition to make of the body. Duke had been identified by a Masonic card.

No particulars have been received beyond the press dispatches that the accident was caused by a fall into an elevator shaft.

Arrangements have been completed by cable for the embalming of the body and it will be shipped north by boat today and will reach Wellsville Thursday.

The board fence on the alleys east and west of the building have been removed and a new iron fence will take its place. The new fence is set in a deep foundation of concrete, making a very durable structure. A large tree near the curb in front of the building was removed Saturday. It having died.

AGRICULTURAL TRAIN COMPLETES WEEK'S CAMPAIGN

Chillicothe, Aug. 28.--Arriving here late Saturday afternoon, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's agricultural educational train completed a week's campaign in the interest of improved farming and farm extension work over a portion of the line of system in Ohio. The campaign was begun on the northern lines of the Baltimore and Ohio at Akron, and the train journeyed west across the state to Sandusky, thence south through the Lake Erie district of the Newark division to Newark and Columbus, following which the train traversed the Southwestern division lines to Hillsboro and then came here.

The lectures were delivered under the auspices of the agricultural college of the State university. Prof. C. R. Titlow was in charge of the lectures, assisted by Professors F. E. Bear, M. A. Bachtell, H. C. Ramsower, O. M. Kyle and C. J. Grant.

The lecture subjects embraced soil fertility, wheat and corn culture and seed selection, topics of vital interest to the farmers in the section of the state through which the train was operated. The attendance at the lectures throughout the week was large and highly satisfactory both to the university men and the railroad. The State university has conducted seven farmers' trains in Ohio during the present month, operating them on all the railroads.

The meeting here, in the county seat of Ross county, was opened by Hon. H. C. Claypoole, representative of the 11th Congressional district, who delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the farmers of the community. Prof. Titlow then followed with an address, in which he outlined the work of agricultural extension being carried on by the State university and the efforts made to direct the attention of every farmer in the state to the methods of improved agriculture. Prof. Bachtell then spoke on soil fertility, being followed by Prof. Livingston, who took up the questions of wheat and corn cultivation and increasing the yield per acre of these crops. Prof. Grant lectured on the selection of seed for planting.

W. W. Wood, general industrial agent of the Baltimore and Ohio system, who was in charge of the train, addressed the audience on the interest taken by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in bringing the lectures to the residence of the farmers. "Our railroad lends every co-operation in the campaign for better farming in the states through which it runs," said Mr. Wood, "and the management takes the position that in doing so it is assisting in the development of prosperous conditions in farming communities which will eventually mean more business for the railroad to handle."

Another and the third national victory for FLANDERS "20" within a month. This time a clean sweep in America's hill climbing classic. The THREE speed FLANDERS "20" won event in her class Saturday at Worcester, Mass. climbing Dead Horse Hill in 1 minute 18.85 seconds, breaking all previous records for her class by 46 seconds, and defeating second car in her class by 37 seconds. She also beat records made by the following high powered and higher priced cars in other classes. Velie Buick, Cole, Hudson, Firestone, Oakland, Cameron, Krit and Empire.

FLANDERS "20" was the lowest priced car in the contest. Dead Horse Hill is one mile long with a rise of over 400 feet to the mile. Newspaper accounts say course was slow because of bad surface and one very bad spot near finish line.

FLANDERS time better than time made in 1909 by any car less than three times her price. And faster than time made last year by any car but one of three times her size and price. She averaged a little over 46 miles an hour up to the eight per cent grade. Strictly stock chassis. Event run under A.A.A. rules and supervision. FLANDERS "20" was sensation of the sixty and seventy horse power cars barely beating her phenomenal performance.

Sending you photograph of WITT in victorious FLANDERS on the hill.

She has now only to win the three hundred mile Savanna Road Race to prove her invincibility in speed as she proved her reliability in the Little Glidden; her staying powers in Minneapolis. to Helena, Montana reliability run, and her hill climbing qualities on Dead Horse Hill. Watch the little wonder at Savanna.

CRAWLED UNDER RAILWAY GATES TO MEET TRAIN

An unknown man created considerable excitement at the Pennsylvania crossing in East Newark Sunday evening when he either attempted to board the fast Pennsylvania train at that point or deliberately attempted self destruction. According to statements of those who saw the man, he crawled under the crossing gates which guard the railroad at that point, right in the face of the oncoming train. Bystanders succeeded in dislodging him from the perilous undertaking and he got out of the danger zone just in time to escape death. Several women who saw the man's actions were so frightened that they collapsed and almost fainted from the shock. As far as can be learned the man was not injured.

COACHES DERAILED ENGINE OVERTURNS ONLY ONE INJURED

Piqua, Aug. 28.--Five coaches were derailed and one person injured in the wreck of a south-bound passenger train on the C. H. & D. railway, near Kirkwood, at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. A spreading rail caused the accident. Engineer Burton's head struck the rails and he was made unconscious. It is believed he was injured internally. The train was traveling at 25 miles an hour, when the locomotive struck a defective rail, which spread and threw it from the track. The locomotive ran more than 300 yards before overturning and dragged the coaches with it. None of the coaches was upset.

Twenty-five members of the Lyman Twins dramatic company were among the passengers. Two of the actresses, Misses Agnes Hite of Toledo and Wanda Shoener of Cincinnati, were shaken up.

Pitman Fred Sellers and his engineer remained in the engine car until it was overturned, when Sellers crawled to safety. There were more than 100 persons on the train. Only the fact that the coaches remained upright saved many from injury or death.

PURCHASED THE BROWN PROPERTY ON HUDSON AVE.

R Earl Jones purchased the Browne homestead at 287 Hudson avenue Saturday afternoon, outbidding a number of local people who were anxious to acquire the property. The sale was made by Sheriff Frank E. Slabaugh on the south steps of the court house and the bidding was spirited. The property brought $7125, being $575 less than the appraised value of the property, $8000. The property was appraised some time ago by Messrs. M. J. Rees, L. M. Phillips and G. E. Smucker.

NO VISITORS FOR PRESIDENT IN THE NEXT TWO WEEKS

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 28.--President Taft today started mixing his war paint, preparatory to carrying his second term struggle into the camp of his enemies. It was given out today that he was to take two weeks' rest, with the understanding that no visitors were wanted. For the first time since he was nominated in Chicago, Taft is said to be in a warlike mood. From the 15th of September until the last day of October the president will fight in the open, lining up his followers and testing the support given the La Follette-Bourne faction. It is announced that he has abandoned his long-planned trip to Tennessee and that he will spend that time in Michigan, where a progressive movement to capture delegates to the national convention has been launched. The president and his advisors believe that the Atlantic coast states, New England and the south are safe for him, and for that reason the campaign will be waged in the middle west and west. Much will be heard from the president on his great trip to the Pacific coast about the "unnatural alliance" between the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans in Congress. He will personally assail the motives of Senator La Follette and his aides in the senate and will defend his veto of the tariff bills.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Why Puss Falls On Her Feet

"TABBY fell out of the apple tree this morning, and she wasn't hurt a bit," Evelyn said.

"Cats always fall on their feet," replied daddy.

"Why?" asked Jack.

"Well, I can tell you the story reason; but, mind, I don't want you to think it is the real reason enough. This is what I once read in a book:

"There was once a wonderful wizard who lived close to the borders of Fairyland. A wizard, so the story books say, is a man who can do all sorts of wonderful things merely by saying a few words—magic words. There are no wizards, I am afraid, except in story books. Well, one day when this wizard went out into the woods to study up some new magic out of his magic books he came upon a poor frightened kitten which a hungry snake was just about to gobble up alive. The wizard said, 'Away, serpent!' or something like that, and the serpent scuttled into the bushes. Then he gave the starved little thing a piece of chicken wing out of his own luncheon. The cat followed him home to his castle and soon was a favorite with the family, for it was as clever and playful a kitten as ever you would wish to see, and the mice and rats simply vanished when pussy got to work catching them. The wizard's wife was delighted. The cat followed the good wizard about like a tame dog. He was a black cat, as a wizard's cat should be, and with the good fare that the wizard's wife provided and the many habits that the wizard and the children were fond of feeding to him the cat soon grew fat and sleek. His cleverness, too, was amazing. It seemed there was nothing that pussy could not learn when he put his mind to it.

One day the wizard went into the woods with his books, and puss frisked after him. The old gentleman sat down under a tree, and puss wandered off by herself. The day was warm, and soon the wizard began to nod over his books. The horrid old snake that had tried to kill the cat lived in those woods and was watching back among the bushes. He thought when the wizard went to sleep he would have a good chance to get even with him for taking away his cat dinner. The snake crept closer and closer, ready to sting the poor wizard in his sleep, when the leaves of the tree rustled overhead, and, with a yowl, puss dropped down on the snake. She buried her claws deep in its head and body. Of course there was a big fight, but pussy killed the snake. The wizard, who awakened in time to see the close of the battle, rewarded puss for saving his life by giving her and all cats ever after the power to land squarely on their feet no matter how they should happen to fall."

The court ordered them brought in Wednesday morning to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt of court.

FOES THREATEN CHRISTIAN FAITH

Banner of Infidelity Raised Inside the Church.

THE HIGHER CRITICISM PERIL

Pastor Russell Says That Evolutionists Are Mowwinking the People, Counselors a Movement Toward Unity of Creeds—Man Is His Brother's Keeper.

Richmond, Va., August 27.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached here today under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association (Local Branch—unsectarian), composed of the truth-hungry from all denominations.

Asked why such great crowds always attend his addresses, while the churches of all denominations are complaining of slim attendance, Pastor Russell replied, "The people are thinking. Perplexed by the infidelity and Higher Criticism taught in the principal colleges and pulpits, many desire to have an interpretation of the Bible consistent with itself and not at war with the reverential exercise of reason. The Scriptures foretell of our day, saying, 'There shall be a famine in the land; not a famine for bread nor a thirst for water, but for the hearing of the Word of the Lord' (Amos viii, 11). No fairy tales can thoroughly satisfy intelligent thinkers, whose numbers are increasing. Many of those who attend my services and many who read my sermons in the public print long since ceased to attend the church services."

Two services were held, one for the public, considering the great "Hereafter"; the other, which we report, had for its text God's call to Cain, after he had slain his brother, "Where is Thy Brother?" and Cain's reply, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" (Genesis iv, 2). The speaker said in part:—

No one can dispute that individualism, personal independence, personal responsibility, has done much for the development of our race. The serfdom and paternalism of the past were unfavorable to individual thought, responsibility and action. No wise and good man would desire to rob his fellows of independence of mind.

One Extreme, Then the Opposite.

We are in danger, however, of going to the opposite extreme—in danger of carrying the subject of personal independence too far—in danger of neglecting some who should have assistance—in danger of thinking of all men as being not only free but equal. While we all should have proper freedom of will, yet all are more or less handicapped in the exercise of the will. As St. Paul said, "We cannot do the things, which we would." We are slaves of sin and death, some more and some less. The Prophet David's explanation applies to us all, "I was shapen in iniquity, in sin did my mother conceive me" (Psalm li, 5).

It was in view of such inequalities of the flesh that St. Paul wrote to the Church, "We that are strong should bear with the infirmities of the weak, and not please ourselves [merely]" (Romans xv, 1). This principle, applied by the Apostle to the Church, would certainly be appropriate and beneficial in the natural family. And as our hearts enlarge we should all come to realize more and more the oneness, the solidarity of our race—the entire human family, of which St. Paul says, "Of one blood God created all men, to dwell upon the face of the whole earth" (Acts xvii, 26).

"Where Is Thy Brother?"

God's inquiry of Cain implied Cain's responsibility, and teaches us a lesson respecting our responsibility in God's sight for one another. We will begin with the Church, the highest type of brotherhood imaginable: We should not be content to split into sects and parties. Whatever was the ignorance of the past, which led to the formation of the various creeds and denominations, there can be no excuse for these now, because Christians of all denominations have come to discredit the old creeds. Should there not, then, be a movement toward heart unity and fellowship, outside of denominational and creedal lines, amongst those who recognize God as Father, the Lord Jesus Christ as the Redeemer, and the Bible as the Divine Revelation?

It is not proper to say as did Cain, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Every true Christian should realize that to-day Christianity is being assaulted in its own House and by its professed friends. In the universities, colleges and seminaries of all denominations a battle is raging, which threatens the destruction of our Christian faith. Possibly a few are blind to the situation, but the insurgents—the Higher Critics and Evolutionists—realize the situation and are craftily saying to the people, "We are the Watchmen upon the walls of Zion! Harken to our cry! All is well!" These Higher Critics seem to have no conscience. They claim that the people must be gradually taken by guile. They encourage them to "sleep," while they raise over them the banner of infidelity called Higher Criticism.

Many who see the killing of this anti-typical Abel shrink the responsibility by saying, "Am I my brother's keeper?" not realizing that from the Divine standpoint they have a responsibility toward every other Christian with whom they are in contact. They should realize that loyalty to God means that they "should show forth the praises of Him who hath called us out of darkness into his marvelous light."

In a word, every true Christian who has made a full consecration of himself to the Lord, to walk in the footsteps of the Savior, should awaken to the fact that we are in a critical time. We are in the time mentioned by St. Paul, when "every man's work shall be tried so as by fire" (1 Corinthians iii, 13). The testing will be along the lines both of faith and of works. Only those holding firmly to "the faith once delivered to the saints" will be able to bring forth such fruits, such good works, as the testings of this hour require. This class, awake to their responsibility toward God and the brethren and the Bible, and full of zeal therefore, will thereby be kept in this "evil day." God will bless them in their endeavors to glorify Him.

My Brother's Keeper—Socially.

In the days of slavery and serfdom, every master, every feudal lord, recognized a responsibility for his servants or slaves. He was interested in their health and in their morals, for they were his property, and any depreciation meant financial loss to him. Thus selfish interest kept him alive to his responsibility, to a considerable degree. But now all that has changed. Serfs and slaves, released from obligation, are without supervision and care. The less fit of our race are in serious danger of being crowded to the wall. Our lawmakers have recognized the fact and have thrown around the weaker sex and children safeguards in the laws, protecting them from designing people who would exploit them for selfish purposes.

Nevertheless, with all that human law has yet been able to accomplish, the danger is increased. As knowledge increases, trusts and combinations selfishly boost the price of life's necessities and luxuries. Those members of our race less favorably equipped for the battle of life are seriously disadvantaged, some by reason of less intellectual powers, others by reason of unfavorable circumstances and environments.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that all who are able are banding together into unions for their own protection; nor should it surprise us that these, also, selfish and hard of heart, should sometimes be unjust in their demands, and sometimes cruel and ready to slay their brother who joins them not in their organization. In their desire to promote the best interests of their craft they may, indeed, reasonably exhort fellow-craftsmen to support the organization, and may show its advantages, but beyond that they dare not go without infracting the principles of justice and bringing Divine condemnation which, sooner or later, in one way or another, will surely be meted out.

Seen from this standpoint, unionism has a responsibility toward brethren not members of the union—to treat them justly, kindly, helpfully. And no doubt this attitude would bring the larger blessing and truer prosperity.

My Brother's Keeper—Financially.

Gradually the world is realizing its responsibility to the weak and incompetent and aged. The Orphanages, Hospitals, Homes for the Poor, etc., are all proper recognitions of the brotherhood of man—aside from the higher brotherhood in Christ. We cannot claim that these institutions are the product of pure benevolence. We must admit that politics has much to do with them. The desire for contracts and for labor in connection with these institutions, has, of course, much to do with their existence. The expenditure of such enormous sums as annually go to these institutions naturally enough draws an array of political bickers and onlookers.

The Day of Recompense.

The All-Seeing eye of our Creator keeps watch over the affairs of His creatures today as it kept watch over Abel's interests. God allowed Cain to have his way; allowed him to kill his brother; allowed the righteous to suffer; yet Cain did not escape, but was held accountable for the death of his brother. God's sentence upon him separated him from his brethren until he cried out that his punishment was greater than he could bear. And, similarly, we may be sure that the Cain class of our day will be held accountable for the wilful slaying of their brother, especially to the extent that the brother despised may be a child of God. As God declared that the blood of Abel cried to Him from the ground—cried for justice—so the intimation of the Scriptures is that all iniquity of every kind, everywhere will bring a "just recompense of reward."

St. James figuratively represents the laborer, the toilers in the field of labor today, as crying out to God, and as being heard, and its resulting in a great "time of trouble," in which the great, the mighty and the rich shall weep bitterly (James v, 1). As these are not the union men, generally, who are crying out at the present time, we may look more especially amongst those on the outside; but the lesson is that those who suffer oppression will ultimately have Divine power exercised in their defense and for their relief. St. James intimates that this release will come to this class at the coming of Messiah, in power and great glory, for the establishment of His Kingdom of Righteousness in the world. To those who are the Lord's people he says, "Have patience, brethren, for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." The Lord speaks of this "Day of Recompense" as a "time of trouble"—of the overthrow of oppression, the uplifting of the poor and those that have no helper (Ps. lxxiii, 12). "The Desire of All Nations Shall Come."

Those who are entirely satisfied with present conditions are the comparatively few who have special advantages. The masses are discontented—some of them properly so, and others of them more discontented than is reasonable. All but the very poorest and worst situated are better off today than were their grandfathers—yet less contented. The spirit of discontent, selfishness and a failure to note and to enjoy the great blessings which God has provided so bountifully, as well as wonderfully, in our day, prevails. Nevertheless, some have reason for discontent; and some, looking into the future, are fearing worse conditions, as the monopolies have gained a firmer grip upon all the necessities of life.

Surely their forebodings are not without grounds. Unless something shall occur to lift matters out of their present rut, human intelligence sees, at a not far distant day, a new serfdom, with masters directing all the forces of the world, and with the common people at their mercy, glad to have a sufficiency of work and of wage for life's necessities.

Long ago the speaker harbored the theory taught him in his creed, that mankind is totally depraved; but surely none are totally depraved except the idiotic. The speaker believed that there is an element favorable to righteousness in every member of our race, and that sin is largely the result of unfavorable environments; and that the majority of mankind would be glad, indeed, if some Divine interposition were to lift them and their affairs out of present conditions and put them upon a plane of absolute righteousness, justice, equity. This, the speaker believes, is the desire of a large element in every nation, a predominating class. Such a reign of righteousness, justice, equity in the world, will speedily result, he said, from the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom, for which we pray, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

Most explicitly do the Scriptures declare this, saying, "The desire of all nations shall come" (Haggai ii, 7). This declaration is in conjunction with the foretelling of the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom. The reign of righteousness which it will inaugurate will be the ideal of the masses of mankind, although quite probably the overthrow of Trusts and Combinations will, for a time, not be viewed sympathetically by the rich, the wise, the preferred, the favored class, under present conditions. As it required time for the slave holders of the past to become reconciled to the loss of their slaves and to see the righteousness of their being freed, so it will be with those who at present are closely identified with great institutions which are bringing mankind into slavery.

Our Lord sized up the situation, saying, Blessed are you who weep and mourn, for you shall be comforted. Woe unto those who are full, for they shall have distress (Luke vi, 21, 25). The reign of justice and righteousness will ultimately appeal to all in heart harmony with Jehovah, and all who fail to thus come into heart harmony with Him will be accounted as unworthy of His gift of everlasting life; for "He who loves not his brother whom he hath seen, how could he love God whom he hath not seen?"

The thousand years of Messiah's reign, during which His Bride, the Elect Church, will be associated with Him, will be quite sufficient for the equalization of all of life's affairs for the entire race. "In His day, shall the righteous flourish," and not the merely strong. In His Day evil doers and not well doers will be crushed. It is written of His Kingdom that it "shall lift up the poor out of the dunghill, and shall bring down the mighty from their seats."

The Disciples According to Previous Character-Development.

The whole world of mankind will then be transferred into the hands of Messiah, who will take them just as they are. They will be in various conditions. Some will be more depraved, others less depraved; some will be more seared in their consciences and some less; and these deficiencies of character will depend upon the way in which each one accepted or rejected light and opportunity in the present time. Those who knew not His will and did it not will receive few stripes; those who knew His will and did it not will receive many stripes, because of previous hardening of character. Everybody will be required, eventually, to come up to the full standard of Divine requirements. Those more depraved will have greater difficulty and those less depraved will have less difficulty and receive fewer stripes. In the coming up to Divine requirements, those who most willingly and most gladly assent to the leveling process will most quickly receive the Divine blessing and make the most rapid progress along the Highway of Holiness, back to full human perfection and eternal life. And those who now, in advance of the establishment of the Kingdom, love righteousness and hate iniquity, come at present into favor with the King of kings, and thus are specially favored with light and knowledge, and are invited to become associates with Messiah in His glorious Kingdom, which is to effect the long-promised, great reformation of earth's affairs. Let us all take to heart and apply well this lesson, but especially those who have heard and who have responded to the Divine invitation to become heirs of God and joint-heirs with our Redeemer.

ATTEMPTED TO PASS BAD CHECK AND GOT CAUGHT

A man giving his name as McFarland and said to have been a confederate to one Fred Emerson, alleged to have forged a check for $125, is now in the hands of the police and held for investigation, while Emerson is still at large.

Saturday evening Emerson went to the Park National Bank and attempted to pass a check for $125, payable to his order and signed by Geo. Walters. Unable to give proper identification there, he went to a clothing store and bought $53 worth of goods, took $72 in change and started out. The proprietor took another look at the check and forced him to return the goods, holding to the check with the statement that he would see if it were good. Emerson had with him a confederate, who remained on the ground, while Emerson ducked before the police arrived. It is supposed that the signatures are forged and the police are investigating. McFarland is being held until further development.

This city. They followed the trail to the rear door.

The animals were placed on the scene the second time and followed the first trail. On the second run the animals entered the house and went directly to the bed where Dobbins was found sleeping by the police and sheriff Saturday night when he was placed under arrest.

Alleged illicit relations between Dobbins and Ida May Smith of the Darlington road, are said to be responsible for the assault, according to the theory of the police. For some time, it is claimed, they have been exchanging letters and have been keeping company. Their actions have occasioned gossip in the neighborhood until threats of violence were made, the police learned.

Sheriff Frick has perhaps 50 letters in his possession written by the girl to Dobbins, who is married. Threats to kill the colored neighbors and the girl's step-father, threats to kill an unborn babe, pleas for new clothes and oranges are all incorporated in these epistles, and many of them have the lovers' "X's" (meaning kisses) Other sheets are simply covered with them.

Dobbins is a boss coal miner and has been employed at the Weller mine near South Zanesville for years. He can neither read nor write.

The intimacy between them began when the girl was working at the Dobbins home, helping with housework and keeping his books last spring. The first investigation of the officers Saturday evening had a tendency to incriminate Dobbins, and when the officers learned that he was possibly accountable for the condition of the girl they visited his home and placed him under arrest on a charge of contributing to her delinquency. He was brought to the county jail. No affidavit will be preferred against Dobbins as a result of the shooting until the condition of Mr. Starks is fully determined.

In several letters written by the girl she expressed her fondness for Dobbins in real, five-cent-paper-back-novel style. She always called him "John" or "Kiddo." One time she stated she could not live without his love. Another time she stated, "I love the ground you walk on, and you know it, Kiddo," and similar statements of endearment were coupled with threats to take poison in case anything ever happened to her "Kiddo."

The threats of suicide alarmed the sheriff and to prevent her possibly carrying out her threat she was placed under arrest at her home Sunday afternoon. She will likely be charged with delinquency in probate court today. The girl lived with her mother and her step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Joy, in a little home on the Darlington road. Her father lives in Nelsonville.

Dobbins has been showering favors upon his young sweetheart according to her story. He bought her a new dress, shoes, lace stockings and plenty of ribbons for her hair and a belt. The victim of the assault is a well known colored man and has been employed for years at the Bolin brick plant in South Zanesville. He does not have an enemy on earth, he claims, and is at a loss to explain the shooting.

The accepted theory is that Dobbins meant to carry out certain threats made against the colored neighbors or against the step-father of the girl and that he lay in wait in the bushes along the Darlington road.

In the darkness it was impossible to tell the identity of the person coming up the roadway and, without investigation, the gun was raised and the trigger pulled. After the assault the guilty person broke into a dead run down the road.

Although the police and the sheriff searched Dobbins's home Saturday night they were unable to find a weapon in his possession that could have possibly inflicted the injury. No weapon was found along the trail taken by the bloodhounds Sunday morning.

Later, additional mystery was added to the case when Court Bailiff Richard Osborne found a .38-caliber Colt revolver in a small grip near the scene of the shooting. The weapon contained one empty shell and five loaded ones.

It was thought the gun and satchel were the property of Russell Miller, but Mr. Russell stated over the phone Sunday evening to Chief Arter that he had not lost a weapon. The police claim such a large gun would have caused an instantly fatal wound and the bullet received by Starks was of much smaller calibre.

Dobbins was confronted by the officers Sunday evening and was told of the bloodhounds running a trail to his home. "It's a lie, they didn't do it, it's all a lie," he said.

MISSING BOY HAS RETURNED TO HIS PARENTS

Arthur Marple, the 18-year-old son of A. H. Marple, who has been missing for a month, came in Saturday afternoon on a freight train, where the officials had allowed him to ride after hearing his story. He got off at Valladolid street and went directly to the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. A. Harter. He came from Buffalo. While in Buffalo he got the impression that something had happened to his mother, and the thought haunted him until he broke for home. Until that time he

ARTHUR MARPLE, who has been missing for a month, came in Saturday afternoon on a freight train, where the officials had allowed him to ride after hearing his story.

Arthur had employment at Carroll's, driving the wagon, but lost the job and was put to washing windows. He objected to this, but knowing that his parents would scold him for quitting the work, left without telling them, thinking he could get work elsewhere. He walked to Mr. Vernon, and from there rode to Akron, having enough money with him to pay his fare that far. From there he went to Ashland, where he worked for rubber plant. Out of work again, he "bummed" his way to Buffalo, from which place he got a ride on a freight to Newark, through the sympathy of one of the employees.

Young Marple has had experience enough to last for several days and his parents are rejoiced to see him without his having met with any serious accidents.

FIRE PANIC

There was no escape he went to the stage. Calling loudly to the frightened people to follow him, he led the way to the rear, and fully 300 escaped in this way.

Of the 26 dead 13 were children, seven of them pupils in the public schools. Sunday it was decided by the school authorities to postpone for a week the opening of the schools.

Arthur McPeake was passing the building when the bodies began to pile up at the door. The young man rushed to the rescue and was in the act of dragging a body from the pile when a man came shooting down the stairs. He struck McPeake on the back and the young man's neck was broken.

Snyder Rittiger was at the performance with his fiancée, Miss Lulu Fisher. Before entering the building they had stopped at a jewelry store nearby and Rittiger had bought the ring which was to have been used at their wedding. Both were killed.

Wilmer Lane, an employee of the Canonsburg pottery and one of the volunteer firemen, hastened to answer the alarm and was working at the pile of bodies at the entrance, when he came upon the lifeless forms of his two children, lying beside his unconscious wife.

Samuel Lane of Morgantown, not knowing that his son's family were at the theatre, had entered the building a short while before the alarm was given. He rushed toward the stairs and was making his way under his feet. As he stooped to pick her up he recognized his granddaughter, but at that moment he was caught in the mighty whirl and she was swept out of his reach and killed. He was seriously hurt.

Coroner James T. Hefron has begun a rigid investigation. He arrived at the scene early Sunday and selected a jury.

It has developed that there was no flash, nor was there the slightest sign of fire. Manager Ferguson of the opera house explained that when the film broke a bright light was thrown on the screen. The frightened boy imagined it was fire and unconsciously shouted out the death-knell of more than a score of persons.

Among the most seriously injured is Mrs. Minnie Lemon of Lawrenceville, Ill., who was visiting friends at Houston, near here. Mrs. Lemon was a spectator at the show and was caught in the crush. Today physicians believe her mind is affected.

It is reported there were several baby carriages at the bottom of the stairway. These, it is said, serious ly handicapped the crowd in the rush for the street.

Services were held at all the churches Sunday, but the attendance was not large. In all mention was made of the disaster.

SHE HAD CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N.Y.—"Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with headaches, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time.

But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N. Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

PROSECUTOR AND CHIEF COUNSEL
FOR DEFENSE IN YOUNG BEATTIE'S
TRIAL FOR ALLEGED MURDER OF WIFE

TRAGEDY OF A GIRL FOUND IN CHINESE DIVE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 28.—Determined, he says, to cheat a term of imprisonment, Charles Hopper of Chicago, who Saturday night murdered Daisy Watts, better known as Grace Lyons, of Chicago, by throwing her off a steamer into Lake Michigan, has absolutely refused to touch food or drink offered to him in his cell in the county jail at Grand Haven.

The tragedy is one of the few murders committed on government inland waters in several years, and the charge of murder will be placed against Hopper in the Grand Rapids federal court.

The murder of Daisy Watts has brought to light the tragic end of a mispent life in the Chinese dives of Chicago of the daughter of a prominent Grand Rapids couple. Hopper, in a confession made in the Holland jail before being taken to Grand Haven, declared he committed the crime to prevent the woman from returning to the life of the underworld, which he says she was leading when he found her.

Hopper says he first met the woman about three years ago in a State street apartment house in Chicago, and fell in love with her, but she refused to marry him. Six months ago, he says, he met her in a Halsted street Chinese dive. According to his story, she accepted his offer of marriage and he took her from the place and they lived together until recently. Last Sunday she disappeared and he traced her to the same Chinese dive, where he claims that he found her smoking opium with an American. She left the place with him, but they quarreled soon afterward and on Saturday she left. He traced her to the boat and also boarded it. Another scene resulted and the crime was committed near the Michigan shore.

"I am glad I did it," said Hopper, concluding his confession. "Now, I know where she is. Those Chinese devils can never get their clutches on her again."

ARRANGING FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF THE VISITORS

An active canvass is now being made for homes in which to entertain the members of the Ohio conference of the M. E. church. The pastors of the Methodist churches of the city presented the matter to their congregations yesterday. It is a great undertaking and will require the united efforts of all the Methodists of the city to make it a success. Mr. Sparks desires all who will entertain to immediately phone either of the three Methodist pastors to the number of guests desired. If those who are not Methodists have friends who are members of the conference that they would like to entertain, Mr. Sparks will be glad to assign them.

MUST MAINTAIN WATCHMEN AT THE GRADE CROSSINGS

An order has been issued by the Public Service Commission of Ohio directing the B. and O. and Pennsylvania railroads to maintain crossing watchmen at Pine, Williams and First streets for a period of 60 days. This order resulted from a petition sent by the railroad companies requesting the commission to extend the time which was given the roads in which to install the warning signal bells at these crossings. They asked to be given 60 days in which to install the bells. The commission complied with the request on condition that watchmen be on duty from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. during the time granted.

NO CONTEST PROBABLE

As Children of Homeless Nebraskan Had Been Estranged from Parent.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 28.—An amazing will, by which George W. Eccleston of Ashland, Neb., who was believed, when he arrived here, walking on crutches and dressed in rags, to be a tramp, bequeathed to Mrs. Claire Pawling Plummer, president of the Shut-In Society of New Jersey and founder of the Bide-a-Wee Home at Longport, $330,000 because she took him in and cared for him, has been made public by Mrs. Plummer of this city.

One week before his death Eccleston called Mrs. Plummer and told her she had been more kind to him than any one else in years, more kind than his son and his daughter, and that he had a paper he wanted her to keep and not to open until he was dead.

Mrs. Plummer took the paper and put it away, thinking possibly it might contain a banknote. After his death she opened the envelope and found the will, reading as follows:

"I, George W. Eccleston, of the city of Ashland, county of Saunders, state of Nebraska, bequeath one-third of all my property to my best friend, Claire Pawling Plummer, of Atlantic City, county of Atlantic, state of New Jersey, who has done more for me than my own children. She took me in when homeless and helpless, not knowing she would ever receive one cent.

"I asked my son Charles and my daughter Bessie to make room for me; they refused. Claire Plummer did it without a question and without price.

"In appreciation of this great act of kindness I give to the three following all my property, real, personal and mixed, to be divided between Claire Pawling Plummer, my son Charles Eccleston and my daughter Bessie Eccleston, to share equally, each to receive one-third of my estate. Should either of the heirs try to contest this will the one contesting shall forfeit his or her share in the estate, and the portion of the one contesting shall be divided between the remaining.

"I prefer and demand that Claire Pawling Plummer shall share in the estate; I further devise that my good friend, Mr. H. S. Wiggenshorn, act as administrator and my best friend, Claire Pawling Plummer, shall act as administratrix. I solemnly declare this to be my last will and wishes. Wee be unto him who tries to alter this document.

"Signed in the presence of these witnesses. George W. Eccleston."

Even after Eccleston's death, which occurred in Mrs. Plummer's home, and the will bequeathing her one-third of the estate was read, she did not know that he was rich. It was only after a visit to Ashland, Neb., that she ascertained the extent of the property to which she is now heir. Mrs. Plummer returned from Ashland a day or two ago.

H. S. Wiggenshorn, named in the will as administrator, is president of a bank in Ashland. After reading the will the son and daughter, who live in Spokane, Wash., decided not to contest.

Eccleston, who was a remarkable character, had been in a sanitarium after suffering from a heart ailment, before he was finally picked up by the Salvation Army in Atlantic City as an outcast, and he looked the part.

When the Salvation Army turned him over to Mrs. Plummer's institution, the Bide-a-Wee Home, he made the statement, which she did not believe, that he had more than $500 and was able to pay $8 a week for board and treatment.

Strangely enough, the second day after he became an inmate of Bide-a-Wee Home, he produced the $8. This encouraged Mrs. Plummer, who became quite proud of the new patient, for this was the biggest price for board the home had ever been able to get.

One day somebody bothered Eccleston and he let out a streak of profanity that would have put a fable hand to the blush.

Mrs. Plummer talked forcefully to the old man and told him that if he had to swear like that he could not stay. Eccleston answered that he did not want to stay. He did not want to be in any sanitarium either but desired to be with some family where they would be kind to him.

This aroused Mrs. Plummer's sympathy and after consulting with Mr. Plummer, just to humor the man she offered to take him to her own home. So Eccleston was removed to the private residence of the Plummers, in Hartford Terrace, Chelsea. There Mrs. Plummer got another surprise, when Eccleston asked her to order a day nurse and a night nurse, and added that he thought he could afford it.

So the nurses moved in and the sick man seemed to improve, but not for long. Suddenly he turned for the worse and a month after he had moved into the Plummer home it was seen that he was very near death.

While Eccleston was in his last illness Mrs. Plummer did many small things to make his daily lot easier. For instance she brushed his teeth daily. No one else would he permit to do it.

Gradually Eccleston talked to Mrs. Plummer, so that, by the time the end came, she knew he had some money and thought possibly it might be $20,000. But she was not prepared for the revelation she received when she went to Nebraska with his body, as he requested.

She is now able to announce that her share of the estate is not less than $330,000. Eccleston had one producing mine that is bringing in $500 a week and has been for years. He had adjoining mine properties, not yet developed, on the same lead, that probably are equally valuable. He had stocks valued at close to $200,000. The amount of cash in various banks was $60,000. Besides the estate, he owned the finest farm on the Wahoo River, in Nebraska, worth $50,000.

Charles, his son, is a saloon keeper in Spokane, Wash., and the daughter, who is single, lives in a small town in the same section of that state. The mother had been divorced and the children sympathized with her. This accounts for their alienation from Eccleston.

"I don't want this money for myself," said Mrs. Plummer today, "but I do want it for Bide-a-Wee Home. I intend to give every bit of it to Bide-a-Wee."

"This money may be available within a year. Probate in Nebraska takes a year and a half, as a rule."

OPEN MEETINGS OF THE Y. W. C. A. AT GRANVILLE

Providence, R. I., Pastor Delivers Splendid Sermons—Outdoor Conference Followed by Games.

Granville, Aug. 28.—The two open meetings at the Y. W. C. A. conference Sunday were well attended. The meetings were held in the Baptist church in order that the public might hear Rev. Mr. Atkins. These are the only two meetings of the conference to which the public are urged, although a limited number have been welcome at the evening meetings during the week. Rev. Mr. Atkins is pastor of the First Congregational church of Providence, R. I. He is a powerful speaker and delivered two excellent addresses yesterday, morning and evening. In the morning his subject was "Epistles," and in the discourse showed how each person is a living epistle. In the evening his subject was "Sacrifice."

An out-door meeting of the conference was held Saturday afternoon. After the service, games were enjoyed by the girls.

Mr. D. N. Bay, who has been a shoemaker in the village for several years, has leased the room formerly occupied by H. C. Belt and will put in a new stock of foot-wear. Mr. Belt sold his stock early in the spring to J. W. Lowery, who has closed it out since that time. Mr. Bay has had a vast experience in the shoe business and will undoubtedly make a success in his new work.

Mr. and Mrs. Stahl of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Charles Lake of Hamilton,

O., are spending a few days at the home of Charles Thornton.

Quite a number of the young ladies of Granville will leave in the next few days to take up their work as teachers. Among those who are leaving today are Miss Ada Chrysler, who has been promoted to principal in the schools at Crystal Lake, Minn.; Miss Maule Geach, who will teach mathematics and history in the high school at Blackwell, Okla.; Miss Anna Barrett, who returns to her work in English at Windom, Minn., and Miss Letha Tannehill, who will teach German and Latin in the high school at Bethany, Mo.

Miss Irene Chambers, who has been teaching in an Indian school at Bicone, Okla., is attending the conference. Miss Chambers will leave in October for China to be a missionary.

George B. Williams of Massillon, is visiting friends in Granville. Mr. Williams, who graduated from Denison last spring, leaves this week for Ionia, Mich., where he will be principal of the high school.

Prof. Bielefeld graduated with the science degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1894, studied and taught at the Polytechnicum, Zurich, Switzerland, and took the Ph.D. degree in 1900 at the University of Zurich. He was professor of physics and mathematics at the Technikum Hildburghausen, Germany, from 1900 to 1906, and has since been at Buchtel college.

John M. Priske, who becomes the head of the voice department in the conservatory of music, studied three years under Albert Visconti in London and two years under Vannucini in Florence. He comes to Granville after two years of teaching in the Whitney international school of opera at Boston.

Other new faces in the faculty of Denison are: Walter J. Livingston, physical instructor and coach; Irving Kull, Beloit, '09, instructor in history; Ruth J. Bailey, instructor in violin and assistant in voice; Constance Teeples, Oberlin, '10, physical instructor for young women in Sheperdson.

Dr. Emory W. Hunt, the president of the university, after a summer trip to Europe, is now in Canada for the further rest made necessary by his severe accident of last winter. The prospect is that he will be able fully to resume his work next month.
